

Bio for Gwen Seamon, PharmD, CPP

After graduating pharmacy school at Purdue University, I completed both PGY1 and PGY2 residencies in ambulatory care with MAHEC and the UNC Eshelman School of Pharmacy. I currently work as a clinical pharmacist practitioner at the Mountain Community Health Partnership, a collection of four federally qualified health centers in rural Western North Carolina (Yancey, Avery, and Mitchell counties). I practice primarily in family medicine with focuses on chronic disease state management, medication access, rural health, hepatitis C treatment, and substance use disorders.
