

Privacy Policy

North Carolina Association of Pharmacists Privacy Policy

The North Carolina Association of Pharmacists (NCAP) is committed to protecting your privacy as a user of this Web site. This statement explains how the personal information you provide to NCAP is used, with whom it is shared and how it is protected from unauthorized access. The following information may be collected from our members for the purpose of membership and/or meeting registration:

Full name
Date of birth
Gender
Home and work addresses
Home and work phone numbers
Email address
Pharmacy school attended and graduation date
Other degrees and specialty certifications

This information may be used to send you NCAP periodicals, information on programs such as the Fall Convention, educational programs and announcements from NCAP. Your name, address, telephone number, email address and credit card information will not be provided to third parties. NCAP may disclose personally identifiable information in special cases when required to comply with the law. The information stored in your member profile is protected by the user name and password that you create when joining NCAP. You are encouraged to change your password periodically. Protect your user name and password as you would other sensitive and private information. Your member profile is available to you 24-hours daily once submitted. Whenever you are finished using the ncpharmacists.org website, you are encouraged to log out by clicking the "logout" button, especially when using shared or publically accessible computers. All information that you provide on ncpharmacists.org is stored in a database residing on a server that is secure against unauthorized access both by physical and software means. Physical access to the server is tightly controlled. Access to your information by employees of NCAP is permitted only for specific jobs or functions. Credit card and other personal information that you provide on ncpharmacists.com is transmitted over the Internet using a Secure Socket Layer (SSL) connection. Of course, no security system is impenetrable and we cannot guarantee the information you provide over the Internet will not be intercepted while being transmitted. The use of this site and submission of personal data to ncpharmacists.org constitute the User's acknowledgement that he or she has read, understood and accepted this Privacy Policy, and agrees to its terms. This policy may be updated periodically, however the most recent version date will be listed at the top of the policy. ncpharmacists.org provides links to other websites and is not responsible for the privacy policies of those sites.